Fiscal Year 2023 Annual Awards Program

On July 19, 2023, the Department of the Interior announced the Fiscal Year 2023 BIA TCR Annual Awards Program investment in Tribal communities (press release). TCR will make available approximately $120 million in funding for Tribes and tribal organizations to address the unique impacts of climate change affecting vulnerable tribal communities. This is by far the largest amount of annual funding made available in the history of the Bureau of Indian Affairs' Tribal Climate Resilience Annual Awards Program.

Award categories and requirements have changed. Please review the 2023 TCR Annual Awards solicitation.

For the FY 2023 Tribal Climate Annual Awards Program, applications can be submitted online via the TCR Annual Awards Program Application Portal. Learn how from our How to Apply guide.

For help submitting your annual award application, a Grant Writing Workshop covering the fundamentals of writing a competitive funding proposal is available on July 26, 2023.

An Informational Webinar will be hosted on August 2, 2023 by the Institute for Tribal Environmental Professionals (ITEP) Tribes and Climate Change Program. The webinar will be recorded and archived on the Institute for Tribal Environmental Professionals \(ITEP\) website. Following the webinar, TCR will update the slides with new questions asked during the webinar.

For questions regarding the TCR Annual Awards Program, see our Contact Guide for who to contact in your region.

2023 Set-Asides

FIRST TIME AWARDEES

To perform a scoping needs assessment and develop a planning proposal in future funding cycles.

- Designed to assure equity for Tribes at different places in their climate resilience and adaptation planning efforts
- Tribes without dedicated staffing or climate programs at the beginning stages of program development are encouraged to apply.
- Note: only Tribes who have not received a planning or implementation award in previous years are eligible for this set-aside.

HABITAT RESTORATION AND ADAPTATION

- Habitat Restoration of coastal ecosystems, including wetlands, marine systems, fire prone arid ecosystems, forest, any other critical ecosystems.
- Emergency Restoration - Habitat and/or adaptation projects due to natural disaster.
- Equity in Restoration Projects - May be used as cost share for Tribes to leverage other Federal agency-awarded habitat restoration and/or adaptation projects.

RELOCATION, MANAGED RETREAT, AND PROTECT-IN-PLACE (RMP) COORDINATOR

Designed to support Tribes that have limited technical staffing capacity to hire a full time RMP Coordinator.

- Support and organize community involvement, coordinate with federal and non-federal partners, and develop community RMP plans and/or implementation actions.
- Communities at the highest risk tiers will be considered.

Application Content Requirements

A complete application must contain all four content requirements:

Cover Page Info

- The cover page information can simply be entered into the e-form on the application portal.

Tribal Resolution or Cover Letter

- When applying, either a signed cover letter or a Tribal resolution is required to summarize leadership support. If selected for funding, a Tribal resolution will ultimately be required.

Proposal

- Describes the proposed project and associated activities. Six-page limit.

Budget Table and Narrative

- Budget table and narrative must align and break down all costs associated with the project.

What's New?

What's New?

Changes from 2022 to 2023

- In 2022, we had 13 funding categories. This year, we have two.
- The number of categories were reduced to simplify the solicitation.
- Within these two categories, there are no exclusions to use project types that TCR has funded in the past.
- Categories of funding are SEPARATE from the set asides. The set asides are not nested within the two categories.
- Each category and set aside have their own unique criteria/activity standards.

Category 1: Trainings and Workshops

Category 2: Adaptation Planning

Category 3: Travel Support for Adaptation Planning

Category 4: Ocean and Coastal Management Planning

Category 5: Travel Support for Ocean and Coastal Management

Regional Partners - Liaisons

How does the Liaison Network work?

Liaisons are generally employed by Tribal organizations, funded by TCR, and work with CASCs to support all federally-recognized Tribes. The Liaison Network will increase the resources available to:

- Help Tribes access information, data, and expertise with the CASCs and elsewhere;
- Facilitate research integrating Indigenous Knowledges (IK); and
- Support Tribal forums and information exchange. These efforts are designed to better understand, communicate, and meet the needs of Tribes through partnerships to promote more resilient Tribal communities.
